

Casual Talk by Polish Officer Started Rush for Housing

LONDON, (CPA)—The whole "casual" problem, among servicemen and their families, which has been the war office and the health department on their respective ministerial caseloads, has been discussed in a recent night in a Buckinghamshire village pub.

A Polish Army captain mentioned that a deserted British Army camp nearby was to be opened to a group of Polish soldiers and their Italian wives, who were expected to arrive in two or three weeks.

Throughout the village of Chalfont St. Giles the chance remark was repeated. Homeless Chalfont wives held a protest meeting and turned on their husbands with a militant question: what did the men propose to do about it?

Canvass Streets
Two husbands canvassed the dark Chalfont streets and rounded up half a dozen other former soldiers. Up the steep hill to Yacht Hill Camp, they crept, stole among the empty huts, found them unlocked, reported back to their wives. By morning, men, women and children were struggling up the hill, carrying bundles of baggage, furniture, rolls of linoleum. By night, 30 families had occupied the huts and marked for the Poles and their Italian brides.

A day later, another 120 families had joined the pioneers. In the camp cookhouse, wives were amiably preparing meals. A former recreation hall, Chalfont infants tumbled and crowded happily. Armies' husbands were already drawing up blue-prints for a shopping centre, a dance hall and a theatre.

Movement Spreads
The movement spread to Liverpool, Durham, Bristol. The Chalfont group set up what they're soundly called the Vache Park Estate, into which each family paid $1.50 a week against possible claims by the government for rent.

The government, meanwhile, was viewing the situation with some trepidation and looking to the winter. Many of the huts were inadequate for cold weather and anti-sand devices were not of the best. Some of the camps lacked plumbing. The "squatters", however, had been doubling up four or five to a room, with friends or relatives or as long as the weather and they were desperate. The Nissen huts and concrete barracks looked like heaven by comparison. They protested and looked to the winter.

They Would Hear A Convincing Talk

SAN FRANCISCO, (AP)—Dr. Harold E. Morrison, operator of a family problems bureau and marriage clinic here, asked the court if the opening of his divorce suit could be delayed.

Requesting the delay by letter to the presiding judge, Dr. Morrison said he had an appointment to address the Fairfield Lions club on "How to be Happy Though Married."

Malomed Ali Jinnah, (right), leader of the All-India Moslem League, is shown in conference with the league secretary, Nawabzada Liaquat Ali Khan, at a party rally in Bombay recently.

In his address to the council, Ali Jinnah urged members to reverse the league's Delhi decision of accepting the British cabinet decision plan for India's freedom and to frame a path of independent "direct action." Members were called upon to relinquish all titles they held from the British government.

Recent talk about a new leader for the Liberals in Quebec is not new; it has been going on for months. Mr. Godbout is guilty of the worst political sin—he has not decided.

Senator Joseph Benoit (Lib., Ontario) spoke of anomalies in public service remuneration which saw the prime minister get only $18,000 annually while the governor of the Bank of Canada got $30,000.

He did not think much of the recent Civil Service Commission report on civil service salaries. He said some sections of the report were "half-baked."

The report had presumed to make a differential on what salaries should be paid the clerks of the commons and the senate. It was too late to be of any use.

Recommendation ever came before the upper house, he would oppose it. He said he was not in a position to provide proper remuneration for the people in public service.

B. C. Ground Fire Brought in Control

LAJNER, B.C. (CP)—A swirling pest bog fire, with smoke rising from underground levels, which for 11-days has endangered property and crops miles away from here, was brought under control Wednesday.

Earlier, fanned by a stiff breeze, the fire was headed for the $350,000 plant of the Imperial Oil Company and potato and oats crops, valued at $120,000, as well as a timber stand, miles away from here.

A crew of 30 firefighters fought the fire, digging ditches which were with water, but eventually the fire shifted in the wind brought ash, shifting the fire into undeveloped bog and forest. Pickers were blamed for starting the fire.

Pass Pay Boost Canadian Judges

OTTAWA, (CP)—The senate Wednesday passed legislation increasing the salaries of Canada's jurists and sent to committee, after second reading, a bill providing a spur railway in northern Quebec and amending the Income Tax act.

He did not think much of the recent Civil Service Commission report on civil service salaries. He said some sections of the report were "half-baked."

Lloydminster Oil Output Second Highest in Canada

LLOYDMINSTER.—Revealing an output of 30,000 barrels of oil for the month of June, the Lloydminster field is second in production place among Canada's oil fields, standing next to Turner Valley.

The Lloydminster field has exceeded the production of Vermilion and Conrad fields, which had less than 20,000 barrels in the month under review.

Oil men say this field could produce 40,000 barrels of oil monthly now there was any market for the increased flow of oil. Already storage space has been exhausted and two large earth sums of 10,000 to 15,000 barrels each are full. A third being filled. A great number of the wells are shut down because there is no place to take the oil.

However, the new refinery is expected to be in operation this fall. It will make use of the oil and try to begin with. The tractor fuel from this oil is said to be excellent for agricultural purposes and may prove a big benefit to farmers.

Refiners, it is said, hope to reach a capacity of 5,000 barrels per day of 150,000 bbls. per month. A number of proven locations in the field are ready for drilling as soon as the market is established. It may take a year for the refinery to reach its 3,000-barrel-per-day capacity. Lubricating oil which now has to be imported into Canada may be obtained later from the central plains oil. The refiners have contracted with the oil companies for the oil. The Lloydminster area is said to be the $1.20 per barrel. The C.N.R. previously has paid $1.10 per barrel for its Rocky Mountain run.

The Husky Refinery Co. will go into the oil well drilling business. It will be the largest of its kind in the west and northwest of the Lloydminster field. The company is bringing up at least one rig to drill constantly for oil and may bring more.

At the shallow depths of less than 2,000 feet only about $17,000 to complete as compared to $250,000 or $300,000 for deep wells in the foothills. S.A.C. No. 4 paid for its drilling and completion in less than five months. Lloydminster, owner of the well, said in Edmonton. "The field is a good one. It produced 10 barrels per hour with less than one percent water cut."

From 24 wells on the Saskatchewan side, the average production was 34 barrels per day in June. From 17 wells on the Alberta side, the production was averaged at 24 barrels per day. This included shut-downs.

Here is how the field has skyrocketed to prominence. Average monthly production for the first three months in 1945 was 2,000 barrels. In April, 1946, the field produced 15,000 barrels. In May, 24,000 barrels and in June, 30,000 barrels.

When Germans Vote

There is an interesting, almost an amusing, analogy between the German elections to be held this autumn, the first democratic elections Germany has seen in at least thirteen years, and the Soviet electoral system which democracy has been pleased to denominate. True, the forthcoming German democratic elections will differ from the Soviet method in many important particular, and, generally speaking, are not parallel at all except in this one respect: that the names of known Nazis will not appear on the voters' lists, and known Nazis besides being disfranchised will not be eligible for office.

Although the German elections will be organized along British lines and conducted under British supervision, any Russian will see the similarity to his own limited franchise in this device of which the Encyclopædia Britannica says: "The limitations of the Soviet franchise are doubtless the result of the root idea of the revolution. The purpose of the Soviets is not to elicit the general will of the whole population. That for a Communist is an absurdity. One might as well talk, as Bukharin has put it, of a general will common to sheep and wolves."

The aim of Western democracy, of which Britain is, in this immediate particular, the trustee, is the re-setting up of democcracy in Germany. In order to accomplish this, the Germans, who have forgotten the ways of democracy, must be re-educated in its technique, and this manifestly cannot be done when Germans have a ponderable remnant of the Hitler school still in their midst.

Consequently, under British supervision

750,000 names have been struck off or not entered on the German voters' lists and, it is said, something like twice that number of known Nazis have been barred from nomination for any public office. In the German's first democratic election in years will not be greatly dissimilar in this one respect from the one-party system of Soviet elections.

Of course, the answer is that a drastic system exists in Germany, and that a drastic remedy. Just such was the Communist argument when the Soviet electoral system was designed. Let us place ourselves for a moment, to the best extent we can, in the position of the Russian Communist as thoroughly convinced of the merits of Communist as we, as democrats, are of the merits of Democracy. "What," we would ask, "is the use of trying to bestow the benefits of one system on those who work in the same breath we authorize the still ignorant majority to vote against it." Such must have been the reasoning of Germany's tutors in democracy.

But, say we, this is only a temporary expedient. Democracy shall be established and Germans have learned to think democratic thoughts. Precisely such, muta-ti mutandis, was the Communist apology for the one-party election.

Against this similarity, of course, there are many points of difference. No continuing

Nazi is done to death for better reason than for being a continuing Nazi. Compulsory adherence to a party ticket is no more contemplated for the disfranchised disfranchised of Progressives, Conservatives or Social Crediters in Canada. At what point

German democracy will be considered to have reached a state where the franchise can again be made universal is something else. But even before then there will be scope for two or three or many more parties within democracy; democrat, as within our own democracy, will be free to raise his voice against democrat. And therein is the difference. The Soviet system allows of no conflict even of viewpoint within the Communist framework. In spite of Communist theories on election even toleration of a minority of Russian democrats is still inconceivable.

Inadequate

Certain Quebec men printed 150,000 false franchise and suffrage ration coupons. Upon being found guilty of this offence, they were sentenced to a fine of $4,475 which is something under three cents per coupon.

It was a substantial fine but it was inadequate to the crime. These men should have gone to jail.

For it was the meanest and most despicable sort of fraud, playing for handsome profits on the greed and selfishness of moneyed persons who could afford to trade in the black market.

It was aimed at the defeat of the purposes of food rationing which is designed to secure for all people an equitable share of commodities which are scarce.

Surely a fine, however large, does not do justice to the social and economic iniquity revealed here. If the law does not give a judicial right to send such offenders to jail, it is time the law was changed.

The Chinese Problem

General Marshall has tried to use American power fairly to produce compromise in China.

But the situation in which he works is a complex of contradictions. The Nationalists are the recognized government of China. The Communists have no legal international status. Yet they control vast areas of China and seem at least as representative of the peoples in these areas as do the Nationalists elsewhere.

The Communists are to some extent suspect in American eyes, however. Their party label makes them so, even if their practices are not quite Communist in the Russian sense of the word. The tendency of Moscow to support them adds to American suspicion. On the other hand, the Nationalists—the Kuomintang—harbor and seem frequently on the verge of being dominated by the most oppressive reactionaries. With these the United States definitely cannot do business.

Against this background, General Marshall's alternative would seem to be to withdraw politically from China. The Russians would undoubtedly move in. In any event, the United States is not now in a withdrawing mood.

Is it Forgotten?

The displaced persons branch of UN-

RRA in Germany is being reorganized, and on the advice of the director-general (Mr.

La Guardia) that the chief of the branch,

Dr. Gen. Sir Frederick Morgan, is no longer indispensable, the War Office at London is recalling him.

It is remembered that last winter General

Morgan affirmed that, in the language of a Canadian Press despatch, "there was an organized, well financed exodus of Jews from Europe." He said, the same despatch continued, "many Jews in the exodus carried with them a good supply of money."

How rashly we cannot say, but many in a position to know have come to the conclusion that the same General Morgan is the "high authoritative source" whom the press quotes, and to which Mr. La Guardia takes exception, as affirming that Soviet Russia is using UNRRA as a base for espionage

in the Allies' western territory.

In spite of the sweetened language wherever the War Office announces, General Morgan's recall, it is hard to escape the conviction that the general is the War Office's goat.

Is it more or is it less incredible that the Jewish exodus from Europe is "organized" and "well financed" than that the USSR is using UNRRA to procure information? Have we so soon forgotten the clash between the government of Canada and the Soviet trade mission, not long before the war, when it was learned that the trade mission was functioning also as an agency for Communist propaganda? Or Ottawa's more recent experience with the Russian embassy?

Mr. Jean Francois Pouliot of Temiscouata has been talking out of turn again. He didn't keep his promise long, never to make another speech in the House of Commons.

If you're interested in pained expressions, just try stopping the guy who says,

"Stop me if you've heard this one."

Holidays with pay were an excellent innovation but they do not seem, remarks

The Toronto Telegram, to have displaced holidays without pay in which so many strikers spend the summer months.

Never mind if the children are restless.

They'll soon be back at school.

Bracken Blames Labor Woes On Federal Inconsistencies

OTTAWA, (CP)—John Bracken, Progressive Conservative leader, said in a C.B.C. talk Wednesday night "inconsistencies in government policy" made any further proceedings of the Commons Committee on Industrial Relations "worthless insofar as its endeavors to find a basis for settling the steel strike were concerned."

Mr. Bracken criticized the lack of co-ordination between the Price Board and the Labor Department, and said settlement of the steel strike now rested on the government's doorstep.

"This lack of co-ordination has been the source of much of the labor unrest now so prevalent in Canada," said Mr. Bracken. For example, the chairman of the Price Control Board, at the request of employers, permitted a 4-1/2-cent increase in the price of steel. And this was done without any decision having been made by the Board as to what increase in wages, if any, to steel workers might be expected.

No Co-ordination
"How the government expected our economy to function in an orderly way with one government board changing prices, and another government board changing wages and no co-ordination whatever between the two boards, is beyond all comprehension," said Donald Gordon, chairman of the Price Board, and Acting Finance Minister Abbott had stated before the committee an increase substantially above 10-cents-an-hour could not be granted without risking the breakdown of the government's price control policy.

"And these statements were both made after the government, through its labor board, had approved with the labor minister's consent an increase of 15 cents per hour in the lumber and other industries of British Columbia," said Mr. Bracken.

Two Steps Needed
"The matter this rests on the government's doorstep. It must do two things. It must take steps to restore respect for Canadian law, and it must find a way to get steel production going again."

Before the steel strike occurred the government appointed a controller for the plants at Algoma, Hamilton and Sydney.

"For all practical purposes it has put itself in the position of being both the operator of the plants and the employer of the men," he said.

"When it found itself clothed with all the powers necessary to do anything required of it, the government then set down on the job. It neither operated the plants nor employed the men."

He criticized the government for invading "practically" every field of economic enterprise and for the type of wheat agreement it recently signed with the United Kingdom.

Miners Present Wage Demands

CALGARY, (CP)—District 18, United Mine Workers of America (U.M.W.), presented members of the Alberta Domestic Coal Operators' Association with a request for adjustments in wages and working conditions.

The request was similar to one presented last week by miners employed by steam coal mine operators and included a $250 a day increase, a five-cents-a-ton royalty for establishment of a welfare fund, a 40-hour week and changes in holiday regulations.

Report Lady Oakes Soon to Remarry
TORONTO, (CP)—The Evening Telegram Tuesday said Lady Elinor Oakes, widow of the murdered Sir Harry Oakes, soon would marry Albert Porter, an American who lived for many years in Toronto.

The paper said the wedding—"not as yet announced"—would take place in England.

Sir Harry Oakes, who helped develop several gold mines in the Kirkland Lake region of northern Ontario, was found dead on his estate at Nassau, Bahamas, July 8, 1943.

CLAMOR TO COME WEST

4 Lands Enter Claims on Italy

PARIS, (CP)—Karl Gruber, Austrian foreign minister, Wednesday appealed to the 21-power peace conference to settle this country's dispute with Italy over the South Tyrol, and to give Austria a part in the international administration of Trieste.

Gruber was one of six spokesmen for European states invited to the plenary session, several of whom issued a barrage of claims against Italy's territory and assets. Albania, Mexico and Egypt all made representations. Albania, Egypt demanded frontier rectifications in North Africa and appealed for recognition of Libya as an independent state with its administration in transition under a member of the Arab league. Only Cuba had no claims against the Italian.

Prices of tires, gas, cigarettes and soap still are controlled in Haiti.

The C.I.O., Mr. Lennard added, was interested in disrupting our democracy and substituting a hammer and sickle for the Union Jack that they are in doing anything for the working man.

The sooner the people of Canada realized that the better it would be. No one, said Mr. Lennard, was in a hurry to join unions.

"I want it thoroughly understood that I hold no brief for capital," Mr. Lennard said. "I am not a member of the Hamilton club. I am not being dictated to by anyone, and neither is the union."

Law and order had to be maintained in Hamilton and everywhere else in Canada, and law and order must be safeguarded by every sincere and honest trade unionist.

He referred to a statement by Alfred Stratton, president of the Electrical Workers' union in Hamilton, referring to a recent demonstration involving Controller Nora Henderson. The statement said the public scared certain members of the council into voting against their own convictions.

If that is not lawlessness and terrorism, then I do not understand the laws of our country, nor the English language," said Mr. Lennard.

Sees Lawlessness Loose in Hamilton

By Richard Sanburn
OTTAWA—Lawlessness and terrorism, unbridled in the strike situation in Hamilton, it was charged in the Commons Thursday by Frank Lennard, Prog.-Cons. West.

"In this present dispute," he said, "the labor leaders in my opinion are not interested in 10 cents, 12 cents or even 15 cents. Their principal interest is in the check-off. They are interested in forcing men to join unions against their will and this, in my opinion, is the worst of all crimes."

Prices of tires, gas, cigarettes and soap still are controlled in Haiti.

The C.I.O., Mr. Lennard added, was interested in disrupting our democracy and substituting a hammer and sickle for the Union Jack that they are in doing anything for the working man.

The sooner the people of Canada realized that the better it would be. No one, said Mr. Lennard, was in a hurry to join unions.

"I want it thoroughly understood that I hold no brief for capital," Mr. Lennard said. "I am not a member of the Hamilton club. I am not being dictated to by anyone, and neither is the union."

Pickets Blocking Entry of Trucks

HAMILTON, (CP)—Three hundred striking members of the United Steelworkers of America (U.S.W.) today forced the first truck to try Thursday to enter the partially strikebound Hamilton works of the Steel Company of Canada, one of the plants against which the union called a 24-hour strike July 15.

Earlier two trucks and several automobiles turned away from the entrance after strikers confronted the drivers. Then a light delivery truck tried to go through the picket lines at the main gate but was pushed back onto the street despite police efforts to clear unionists away from it.

Around the gate the crowd of strikers and sympathizers, which rose at times during the night to an estimated 2,000, dropped to about 200 Thursday. A cordon of police met resistance, jeers and threatening gestures as the officers tried to escort two workers into the plant. Police pushed back strikers and police away from the entrance.

Hamilton police commission was expected to meet to receive a report from Police Chief Joseph R. Crocker on the explosive situation which developed Wednesday and led to four picket line clashes.

Nine men arrested Wednesday during clashes were remanded by Magistrate McKay until Friday. Charges ranged from obstructing police to intimidation and willful damage.

"The house of commons Wednesday heard Labor Minister Mitchell defend the right of every person to free access to his premises."

Answering Angus MacInnis (C.C.F., Vancouver East) on a question about the action taken going through picket lines at Hamilton, the minister said he knew of no instructions issued by the government controller at the Steel Company of Canada plants there to carry out such action. But he considered "every person has a right to go to his place of business or his own home."

Printers' Strike Report Received

OTTAWA, (CP)—Labor Minister Mitchell announced Thursday he had received an interim report from Mr. Justice Richards acting as conciliator in a dispute which led to a strike of members of the International Typographical Union (A.P.L.) of the Winnipeg Tribune, a Southern paper, and the Winnipeg Free Press, a Bifton paper, and other Southern newspapers.

The report said that due to the inability of Woodruff Randolph, of Indianapolis, president of the I.T.U., to leave the United States at the moment, no joint conference of the newspaper heads and I.T.U. officials had been held.

"It appears from the report that early in August an effort was made to hold a conference of the newspaper heads with Harry Finch, Canadian representative of the I.T.U., and Mr. Randolph," said Mr. Mitchell. "However, due to the inability of Mr. Randolph to attend a conference until the end of August, no meeting has yet been held."

"Wealey McCurdy, vice-president of The Southern company and publisher of the Winnipeg Free Press, told Justice Richards that there were no members of the I.T.U. in the employ of the Tribune, but that he was prepared to re-employ any of the printers who had gone on strike as vacancies became available. He reserved the right, however, not to re-engage any former employees who had been guilty of what he termed, objectionable behaviour during the strike."

Last year was a boom year for babies in South Africa, 80,000 being born, 2,000 over the record total of 1943.

None of the executive is saying "what eventually will happen."

Coach Jack West was quoted as announcing a meeting would be held Friday with the players but president Chipman said there would be no meeting.

The bombers, incidentally, are scheduled to play a two-game exhibition series here with Montreal "A" Aug. 24 and 25.

Most prominent of the 12 are Harry Hood, Norm Geiler, Nate Shore, Ken Draper and Jack Manners, all of whom played with the team last year.

IN DEAD HEAT: Jockey Charlie Ulrich riding Tommy Morrison's Anna-A-Vish and Roy Russell (right) aboard H.P. Street's Coon Dog, finally wound up in a dead heat in the fifth race of the Edmonton Junior Baseball League final Wednesday night at Renfrew.

Boh Fleming, Canadian chucker, had dug out South Siders well in hand until the seventh, only being nicked for two safeties in the first six frames, but a single by Murray Stewart, a walk to Dave Ellis and Clark's doubled off the right field wall, spelled finish for him.

THE TWO RUNS Clark drove in tied up the ball game and then, after Tommy McGregor had taken over on the mound for the Canucks, Clark scored through a passed ball and an error at first by Jack Jagg.

First three Canadians up in the last of the seventh were retired and then umpire John Lupul called the game due to darkness.

Vern Callahan, slim South Side chucker who pitched the Ron Sheen (Wally Aldridge coached club) right into the finals by beating Arrows twice, hurled steady ball for the South Siders despite the fact he was behind until the seventh. He only allowed five bingles during the seven-inning contest while striking out seven.

CANADIANS grabbed off a 2-0 lead in the second inning on two errors in centre field and a single stolen base and an infield out, only to have Val Berg's nine bounce back with another in the last of the seventh.

South Side cut the lead in the third on an overthrew at first, a stolen base and an infield out, only to have Val Berg's nine bounce back with another in the last of the seventh.

Poor base running cost the home team a run in the fourth when they picked up their first two, Tony Durovec overran third, and right after that Ren McAuley pounded out a clean single that would have scored the local chucker. That, combined with Devil's error that allowed the break in the game.

Alberta chucks picked up two more in the sixth, but after that Boverman kept their bats well under control.

Wounded Bear Injures Trapper of White Court

WHITE COURT.—Joe Beaman, 67-year-old trapper of this district, recovering from a severe mauling by a young black bear he shot and believed killed.

The veteran trapper who has shot a number of bears, found the animal nosing around his camp storehouse, 40 miles west of here. A single shot brought the bear down and Joe returned to his cabin to finish breakfast, believing the bear dead.

Beaman's dog gave warning that the bear had not been killed and the trapper gave chase. A few yards from the cabin the bear caught the trapper by surprise as it jumped from the under brush, giving the 200-pound man no chance to win.

The animal knocked the rifle from the man's hand and started to claw him. Beaman grappled with the brute and succeeded in getting a grip on the animal's snout. He then set his dog on the bear which distracted the animal's attention long enough for the trapper to reach his gun and finish the bear off.

Neighboring trappers gave Beaman a lift to White Court by motorcade but due to the absence of a nurse Beaman had to continue on to Mayerthorpe where he received hospital attention.

He suffered many wounds to his arms and face where the bear had clawed him and punctured the skin with its teeth.

Speculate Change For L. B. Pearson

OTTAWA, (CP)—A diplomatic switch among the cabinet members of Lester B. (Mike) Pearson to East Block headquarters and director of affairs for Norman Robertson, under-secretary of state for external affairs, is being discussed in capital circles.

Other features of the move would see Justice C. D. Clark, former Canadian high commissioner to London, succeed Mr. Pearson in Washington. Mr. Pearson would retain his high commissioner in London.

This would leave Frederick Hudd, acting London since the retirement of R.L. Hon. Vincent Massey, available to fill Justice Davis' post in Canberra.

It was emphasized by persons speculating that Mr. Robertson's transfer to London would not in any way be considered a demotion. Canada's foreign diplomats have much the same status and Mr. Robertson, who is anxious for some service abroad, would retain his senior position.

Some Liberal party members here persist in the opinion that Mr. Pearson might be considered as a possible successor to Prime Minister King for the party leadership.

Diplomatic service vacancies include the high commissioner offices in Canberra, Wellington, St. John's, Dublin and New Delhi. Missions in several European countries.

Languages Said Parley Barrier

By David Schoenbrun

PARIS, (CP)—Difference in language is an important factor contributing to the unhealthy atmosphere at the Paris conference of 21 nations, a poll of delegates and interpreters reveals. Bad translations are trying to break down the barriers and above all inadequate interpretations have plagued the delegates from the first day of the conference. They increase the difficult task of the press.

Even with the flawless translations, the very process of translating all speeches into English, French and Russian would in itself be a wearisome affair, slowing down the progress of the conference. The official interpreters have been so inadequate that the delegates and chiefs of delegations have been obliged on several occasions to warn the chair about faulty translations.

Pretexts From Floor—A. V. Alexandrov, deputy Lord of the Admiralty and deputy chief of the British delegation, after listening to a speech by Mr. W. Churchill, addressed in French, protested from the floor to President Georges Bidault of France, then in the chair, that the interpretation was "wholly inadequate."

Some examples of errors are particularly serious. Jan Masaryk, Czechoslovakian foreign minister, said on one occasion Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov said, "Perish the thought that this conference might fail. It must not fail and we must proceed to fundamental, with this determination in mind." The interpreter said, "Mr. Molotov says it is not impossible that we will succeed whether this conference might or might not fail. What we must do is to go ahead immediately with the fundamentals and not worry about the possibilities."

Translation Wrong—After one of Yugoslav Vice Premier Karelj's speeches, the delegates from his country were heard shouting all through the French translation that "was wrong." A Yugoslav correspondent explained that M. Karelj at one point had mentioned that Yugoslavia had been the victim of German and Italian fascist aggression, whereas the interpreter had left out the word Italian, thereby editing M. Karelj's speech to mean that only the Germans had attacked Yugoslavia.

There are countless other examples of errors.

Greatest Challenge To Education Seen

Grant Authority For Apartments

Approval to construct two-story frame and stucco apartment units in place of three-story brick buildings originally proposed in the former penitentiary site was granted to Housing Enterprises Ltd. by a federal government-backed housing agency, at a special meeting of the city council Wednesday afternoon.

COUNCIL also approved of sale of any additional land that the agency may require for the smaller structures.

Mayor Harry Ainlay said that Housing Enterprises Ltd. had originally proposed to make available 136 suites of the three-story brick building but asked permission to change to frame buildings because of the impossibility of securing bricklayers and brick.

THERE WERE six suites to the building originally under the new plan there will be just four. The agency hopes to get started once on construction of 23 units to be completed this year.

The land purchased originally from the project is about 1.5 acres. With the smaller buildings 168 acres are required.

The contractors assure there will be ample fire protection with fire trucks responding to the site.

IT WAS intimated that the agency will be able to secure good priorities from federal authorities for materials.

Fusiliers Marking Memorable Day

Just 35 years ago Thursday on the first of August, 1914, the Fusiliers of the 101st Edmonton Fusiliers marched through the streets of Edmonton, Troops bearing the colors of the 101st Edmonton Fusiliers received an ovation the like of which had not been in Alberta's capital at any time before.

VETERANS of that unit's first activities Thursday were recalling highlights of the day they left this city. A 1913 then were cheering, singing and waving their rifles and bayonets for a few hours and wives of many years, all of whom put up a brave front to hide broken hearts.

The Fusiliers left Edmonton under command of Lt. Col. Frank Osborne, later they were the 9th Battalion, CEF, and in England the unit was broken up. The men became reinforcements to units in the First and Second Divisions and as such served through all the major campaigns of the 1914-18 conflict.

Industry Linked With Education

Industry is vitally concerned with the progress of education because from improved educational standards come an expanding economy and a better democratic way of life. H. H. Hewetson, president of Imperial Oil Ltd., said Thursday morning in an address to the Canada and Newfoundland Education Association.

MR. HEWETSON said there is no gap between education and industry, but rather a continuity and interdependence of the two.

MR. MANNING stressed the fact that educators must lead the way in the establishment of permanent world peace. "When individuals learn to live peacefully together, in family, business and national life, then they will be able to make a contribution to world peace," he said.

Three threats exist which are a threat to any kind of unity today in the establishment of permanent world peace. "When individuals learn to live peacefully together, in family, business and national life, then they will be able to make a contribution to world peace," he said.

People will blame anyone—the church, the school, the government, the evils of today, strikes, disputes between labor and management and dissimilarity within the country. They never think their attitude towards neighbors, business associates and enemies is reflected 1,000-fold in the problems facing Canada today."

Immigration Talks Held by Ministers

The general policy of education in the English and French languages, together with a background of knowledge of Canada's system of government and the part played by the individual citizen in the Dominion as embraced in this country's modernized immigration policy, was the topic of Tuesday and Wednesday talks.

Participating in the talks were Frank Foulds, Ottawa, representing the Immigration Department, and the Hon. J. E. Duggan, Minister of State, and the Hon. C. H. Blakeney, Minister of Education.

MR. FOULD'S said that the Immigration Department is now working on a resolution on immigration policy which will be presented to the Canadian School Trustees' Association.

Proposal to Widen Bridge Is Approved

Proposals of City Engineer A. W. Haddow for widening of the low level bridge to more than double the structure's traffic capacity, revised paved approaches from the north side and for new paved approaches from the south side, were approved by the Edmonton city council at a special meeting Wednesday afternoon.

THE CITY ENGINEER'S plan for a traffic lane on the top deck of the high level bridge was not passed upon at the request of Mr. Haddow, who wishes a further analysis by bridge experts as to the effect on balance of the structure.

Mr. Haddow's proposal was to have one side only of the top deck sealed at this time for one-way traffic, and heavy truck traffic, while the present traffic deck would serve for trolley bus and general motor traffic in the opposite direction.

A SIMILAR LANE on the other side of the top deck to carry trolley bus traffic, motor traffic, would be constructed at a later date, the engineer had proposed.

Bridge experts, however, are still waiting certain data to him the interim arrangement would work from the standpoint of stress and balance.

WIDENING of the low level bridge will have priority in the three projects and is scheduled to be carried out during 1935.

THE LOW LEVEL project really means building of a second bridge adjoining the present structure on the west. The new addition would service two lanes of southbound traffic. The present bridge would be for northbound traffic.

MR. HADDOW observed in his submission to council there had been a proposal to build a new bridge entirely but he felt such a bridge would have to be four lanes wide, which would not only cost much extra cost but also extensive revision in approaches.

ALTHOUGH the 105 street bridge has adequate capacity for two lanes of traffic the south approach needs revision and the bridge itself must be widened to carry two lanes of traffic.

THE END of the south approach will be lowered about six feet and the bridge reconstructed to carry two lanes of traffic.

PRESSURE creosoted flooring, cement concrete slab and asphalt will be recommended for the bridge redecking.

ESTIMATED cost of the project is $383,630.

THE 105 STREET bridge work and approaches is scheduled tentatively for 1935.

EVERYTHING is planned to improve the approaches to this bridge by a subway under the CPR tracks at 88 avenue.

MR. HADDOW said it is also planned to eliminate the hairpin turn on 105 street and to pave and decrease the grade on 102 street hill and utilize the 105 street hill on the north side.

THE LOW LEVEL and 105 street bridge improvements are completed there will be six traffic lanes operating on the north and south sides exclusive of the high level bridge. Mr. Ainlay stated, who pointed out that all of this work has to be completed before the revisions to the high level are undertaken.

MR. PARSONS said he still held to the opinion that a six-lane high level bridge was the best solution.

Challenge Is Seen In Atomic Energy

Atomic energy presents a real challenge to educationists, because the thinking of the people must keep pace with the steps to the progress of scientific progress. Dr. R.C. Wallace, principal of Queen's University and former president of the University of Alberta, said here Wednesday.

DR. WALLACE is paying his second visit to Edmonton since his appointment as head of Queen's University 10 years ago and is attending sessions of the Canadian-Newfoundland Education Association. He is accompanied by Mrs. Wallace.

HUMANITY must meet the challenge of advancing science, Dr. Wallace declared.

"WE KNOW from history it is impossible to retard that advance," he said.

WHEN THE MOTORCAR appeared it was seen there was danger of discarding the motorcar. The motorcar was a danger to the horse and carriage. It is a question of proper use, Dr. Wallace said.

MR. WALLACE expressed his delight at returning to Edmonton and meeting so many former friends and associates. He is staying at the Hotel Vancouver.

HE ALSO had high praise for the Canadian-Newfoundland Education Association.

Miss LeBlanc City Visitor

The education of womanhood must be centred more on the family and child, stated Miss Evelyn LeBlanc, in an interview with The Edmonton Bulletin, Wednesday morning. Miss LeBlanc is the chief of the home economics division, department of education, province of Quebec. She is in the city attending the 23rd annual convention of the Canadian and Newfoundland Education Association.

MISS LeBLANC based her statements on the facts that the family is the conjugal society and the first gift, the child, and also that the family is the home where the life of the conjugal society flourishes.

The nation needs various kinds of women, said Miss LeBlanc. First it needs the intellectual kind and second, the kind who can organize and execute action which is right and in fact it belongs to womanhood. Women of the first category are born to think, while those of the second must execute, in an intelligent manner, the thoughts of the first. The nation also needs the professional workers in all domains and it also needs technical workers for office, stores and industrial enterprises.

"The necessities of war which have disorganized homes, the masculine education afforded young girls, have both lowered if not altogether killed the concept and notion of femininity among women, who should be the soul of the home," said Miss LeBlanc.

IN A WORLD uprooted by years of turmoil, it was important to secure a feminine education based on a healthy and adequate philosophy of life, she said. A nation, the family of the future needs the strength from the strength of the various families. The family, on the other hand, is strong only if each of its individual members is strong. The individual in his turn is influenced first and above all by the atmosphere of the home where he is born. Since the home is the first sanctuary of education and the soul of the nation, the wife and mother, to have a strong nation, we must have a family and child centered education, she said.

"Basically I feel that it is the family life that is responsible for juvenile delinquency," said Miss LeBlanc. She told of the many schools for parents and the small centres where "family weeks" were held, in Quebec, with lectures for young and old. The theme of the coming Quebec exhibition is "Home to the Family" and all exhibits are being carried out to portray that theme.

IN QUEBEC, there are many special home economics regional schools, where girls who have finished their Grade 9, may enter for a four-year course, which does not give them a degree, but a diploma. Practicality, rather than scientific knowledge is stressed in these schools and graduates are able to teach in a rural municipalities under the adult education scheme. Miss LeBlanc has 32 teachers on her staff, who teach in urban centres. Enrollment during 1945-46, to date has been 25,000. Many persons from other countries have gone to Quebec to study the economic program. Two of them were nurses sent by the British government, and who are teaching in the British West Indies.

A luncheon was held recently in honor of Mrs. Michael Ward, the former Miss Helen Dale at the Mandarin Gardens by members of the staff of the Workmen's Compensation Board. She was presented with a crystal rose bowl and a corsage of cream roses. Those present were Mrs. Michael Ward, Mrs. E. Wootton, Mrs. Frank Rugh, the Misses Hazel Hunkeler, Joan Robertson, Joyce Griffin, Laura Bordin, and Catherine Cooper.

British Teachers Are Disappointed

NEW YORK, Aug. 22 (CP)—Disappointed in the tameness of the day's "swallow" and the absence of "cow-and-robbers gun battles," a group of British Exchange Teachers nevertheless are impressed by the clothes in New York stores.

"Those beautiful hats and stockings!" sighed one of the 31 teachers who already have arrived. "We've been living in sacks."

The exchange teachers arrived last week. They have been shopping ever since. Twenty-four more will come next week, making a total of 55.

The same number of teachers from United States public schools already have arrived in England.

Your Baby And Mine

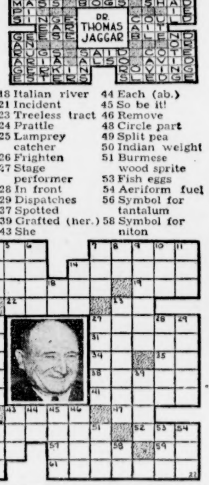

THE MOTHER WHO is unsure of herself and feels inferior is certain to allow this trait to adversely affect the way she appraises the behavior of other children as contrasted to her own. Her attitude will proclaim that she considers them rivals and that it is her obligation to cut them down to proper size so her children may not suffer by comparison. This leads her to brag about her own children and criticize others. EVERY PARENT is guilty of some bragging, though she may not call it this. She wants her child to be the best, and with her the glow of pride her children's achievements call out. Every one expects and is understanding of such behavior. But when, in addition, she minimizes the exploits of other children, or puts the worst interpretation upon their childish conduct, this is mean, unlovely and wins no friends. EACH CHILD should be able to stand on its own merits. It should be obvious that the child who never seems as smart to others as he does to his parents, for they have had an opportunity to observe him more closely. But a child's manners, his special personality, are plain enough to anyone and that should be enough. If, as the mother may think, she is increasing the child's self-confidence by constant praise, that may be a worthy way to act. Child may be enough scolding and criticism so that praise is a welcome antidote. But not praise at the expense of the same other child. She may say admiringly, "You are so polite, that it makes Mother very happy," but not, "I'm glad you're so much more polite than Johnny Green."

IS HARD for neighbors and friends to listen to parents of children bragging for her own children and distributes against those of others. Yet in every neighborhood there seems to be at least one mother who creates ill-feelings by her readiness to blame every child but her own for undesirable play for children's quarrels and for any behavior which is disapproved in general. This is an ungenerous and unrealistic attitude. It also is a pity, for it frees the mother from the necessity to deal with the behavior of her own children. They poor things as she implies, are just the victims of the neighbor's brag.

ANY MOTHER should become suspicious of her motives when she finds herself chronically criticizing other children and praising and whitewashing her own. Our leaflet No. 50 "Childhood Sex Habits" may be had by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with this request to Myrtle Meyer, Editor in Charge of THE EDMONTON BULLETIN.

Why Grow Old?

If you don't enjoy diving as Actress Suzi Crandall does, you're missing some of the fun you could have while swimming. It will give you new interest in the sport. BY JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

WHY NOT TAKE UP diving and swimming this summer? Many persons who really enjoy these sports just get out of the habit of taking the trouble. Sometimes they have gone stale on them because they never learned anything new. You can add zest to your swimming by learning a new stroke. Diving makes your hour in the water more fun, too. If you have never learned how to swim you can take the first steps alone before beginning your lesson. In your own bathroom you can learn to control your breath, to fill your lungs with air and then close your mouth and submerge your head under water. Exhale through your nose as you lift the head out of the water. After this you can go to the pool and practice "dead man's float." Push off from the side of the pool and float on your stomach, with your arms stretched out in front of you, legs straight and face under the water.

NATURALLY, YOU MUST fill your lungs with air and close your mouth before pushing off just as you did before putting your head under water in your own bathroom. When you wish to stand up, bend your knees up under you and place your feet on the bottom of the pool. When you see the kids springing up and down on the end of a spring board, over and over again, they aren't just showing off but are trying to learn to get more height into their diving. This is one of the secrets of good diving. The expert goes high in the air before he begins execution of the dive while the beginner makes a two line from board to water. If you dive moderately well, try the end of the board exercise for a feeling of more height in your dives.

Dorothy Dix Says

Although no bombs were fired on our blessed country and none of our cities lie in ruins, yet the war changed the world for us, even as it did for the battle-scarred lands across the seas. It is only those who have lost their loved ones and whose sun of happiness has gone down forever, who realize that the old, lush, comfortable days are now nothing but a nostalgic memory, whose like we shall never see again.

The balance of us have not yet sensed that the war has changed our manners and our customs and our morals and every detail of our daily lives so that we are literally strangers in a strange land, not knowing how to adjust ourselves to the new order of things. Statistics show that the supply of eligible men is at its lowest ebb. Millions of women will not be able to get husbands because there just aren't enough to go around. Millions of women who have husbands will lose their spouses to predatory lobbies who have no scruples against robbing a sister woman of her treasure. And still other millions of women will have to support husbands who are not able to work by reason of their infirmities.

So now, as never before, it behooves every girl to scrap her dream of marriage as means of livelihood. The war has changed all that, and every little baby-sitter should begin preparing herself to be her own meat ticket. If she wishes to eat. No soldier who stood at his post and did duty during the war was a greater hero than these women, who have gone to work at any job they could get, to keep some sort of a home together, and to support their children. They have toiled like slaves because, after their hard day's work at the factory or office, they have sat up half the night cooking their children's food, washing their clothes, mending and darning so that they might not be too much ashamed when they went to school.

General Duty Nurse

By LUCY AGNES HANCOCK

Copyright by Lucy Agnes Hancock Distributed by NEA Service, Inc.

THE BED Prunella had occupied for so short a time was made ready for its new occupant. She arrived during the night so when Sally went on duty next morning she found Miss Bowden — a typical case — an ex-school teacher, crocheting like mad while she read her daily portion of Scripture. Sally stood and watched her for a moment until the patient closed the Bible and placed it on the stand beside the bed. Then the nurse spoke. "Don't you have to count and watch while you're doing that?" "Not this pattern," the patient answered. "I could do it with my eyes closed. Are you the nurse here?" "Yes," Sally told her. "I'm Sally Maynard, Miss Bowden. How are you feeling this morning?" "Nervous, of course. I shall be greatly relieved when it is all over and I can breathe freely. Have you any idea how miserable a golden make one feels, Miss Maynard? I wish I had listened to the family doctor years ago and had it removed when I was young. At my age there is considerable risk, but I can't go on as I have a bad cold — straining, choking, panting, and fighting for every breath I draw. I was disappointed not to get the semi-private room I wanted; but they were all taken. You look kind and efficient, Miss Maynard, and I am sure Doctor Richards is also. "One of the very best, Miss Bowden," Sally assured her.

help you all we can, my dear."

Have been tears in the woman's eyes as she returned the pressure of the nurse's fingers.

DOCTOR WILLOUGHBY moved on down the ward. He wished he could use her on one of his patients for a while. Three polo cases — past the first stages to be sure! but still needing care and attention. However, the girl had earned a break. She had been in receiving for two hard weeks and was now on K which had the reputation of being easy, but it was not. He was eager to get out and most of them too damned talkative for their own and everyone else's good. He was fairly good to be in, to his way of thinking. No doubt she would be shifted to male surgical ward, although he had a hunch the chief could use her on one of his patients. Heaven knew some of them were tartars. He sighed and went on, greeting each patient with a word, listening to their troubles with one ear while he examined their charts and checked off those who should be discharged within the next few days. He returned to Sally, who still stood beside Miss Bowden.

"Aveat, Costello and Bardi can get up this afternoon, Maynard," he told her. "Have someone take 'em to the minibus. I'll be there. The two at the end and Mrs. Blake are about ready to go home. You be informed over here? Three patients! Three ready beds, Maynard! We're 'lucky!"

"Miss Bowden is the only really seriously ill patient we have in K, Doctor Willoughby," Sally reminded him. "P. overworked. Why can't some of those patients be informed over here? Three beds are all at one end and could easily be screened if necessary. What I'm trying to say, Doctor, is that I haven't enough to do."

"What?" Will you say that again? Are you quite all right, Sally? The resident stared at her in amazement. "Well, my dear, now I have heard everything. Yes, I feel sure we can arrange for P. transfer and over. Well, well, well — and he turned and hurried away."

HERE'S NO PIGSKIN IN A FOOTBALL

Whenever the football season is in full swing, one hears many people talking about the boys chasing the pigskin. This is all wrong, for there is not any pigskin in any football. They are all made of cowhide or calfskin. So we shall have to say the boys chase the calfskin, not the pigskin. The game of football in the United States is really not football, but rugby. The continental game of football is called soccer in the United States. The chief difference is whether or not the hands may be used as well as the feet in the game.
